Semester I Sociology: An Introduction

Objectives of the Paper:

1. This paper intends to induct the students to sociology as the beginner of the subject.
2. The paper thus aims to expose the students to the basic concepts in sociology.

Mission, Goals, and learning Outcomes:

The Sociology Department seeks to develop in students the sociological knowledge and skills that will enable them to think critically and imaginatively about society and social issues. Through coursework, internships, independent studies and collaborative research with faculty, the Department encourages a commitment to social justice based on an appreciation of social and intellectual diversity and an awareness of social inequality.

The major in sociology is intended to serve as preparation for careers in teaching, delivery and administration of social and health services, urban and environmental studies, law, government service at local, state and federal levels and related occupations. The major also provides training for advanced graduate work in sociology, social work and other social sciences. Sociology is also recommended as a second major or minor for students of all other social sciences; for business; for the humanities; especially literature and theatre arts; for ethnic and area studies; for journalism and other various applied arts and sciences

Core courses provide students with a solid grounding in the fundamentals of the sociology discipline. Upper division concentrations in Deviance and Social Control; Interaction and Group Relations; Medical Sociology; and Social Change and Global Issues allow students to further focus and develop their understanding of specific fields within sociology.
